

LANDSLIDE FOR G. O. P. IN MAINE

Parkhurst Elected Governor by Margin of 65,000 Over His Democratic Opponent

All Republican Congressmen Elected—Every Member of State Senate a Republican

Margin of Victory Greatest in History of State—Women Cast Ballots for First Time

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—Maine gave an overwhelming plurality to the republican ticket in the state election yesterday. With a total vote larger by 65,000 than the highest ever previously cast in the state, Frederick H. Parkhurst of Bangor, was elected governor by a margin of 65,000 over his democratic opponent, Bertrand G. McIntyre of Norway. The plurality was 17,000 more than the largest obtained by any other gubernatorial candidate in the history of the state.

All G. O. P. Congressmen Win

Four republican congressmen were elected by larger pluralities. Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr., John A. Peters and Ira G. Hersy retained their seats and in the first district, where Congressman Louis H. Goodall, republican, did not seek re-election, Carroll L. Bood of Portland, republican, was chosen. Every member of the state senate will be a republican, while of a membership of 161 in the house of representatives, the democrats succeeded in electing 13. In the last legislature there were two democratic senators and 41 democratic representatives.

Roy L. Wardwell of Augusta, republican, was easily re-elected state auditor. All the new county attorneys and all the new county sheriffs are republicans.

Vote For Governor

The vote of the state for governor, with returns from 40 small towns and plantations in remote districts missing, was:

Parkhurst (R), 133,817; McIntyre (D), 68,249.

The increase in the total vote was largely accounted for by the presence of women at the polls for the first time. All over the state, women showed themselves eager to grasp the opportunity of exercising their new privilege, and they were undaunted by a heavy downpour of rain in the

BOSTON'S NEW POLICE FORCE TO PARADE

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—This city is to see a new police force, recruited after the strike of union policemen a year ago, on parade today. Police Commissioner Curtis announced today that the finest will march 1200 strong, under review at various points of the city, the mayor and the commissioner. The force, which now numbers 1300 uniformed officers and men, was recruited largely from veterans of the world war, and the nucleus of a few hundred patrolmen who stuck to their posts when the others walked out.

CARS COLLIDE, WOMAN INJURED

Two electric cars collided at the corner of East Main street and High street this afternoon and as a result one of the passengers of the cars, Agnes Parent, of 51 Boylston street, received slight injuries to her right arm. The ambulance removed her to St. John's hospital. The accident occurred when the brakes of one of the cars refused to work. The cars were not damaged to any great extent.

WHERE THE TIDE NEVER TURNS

People whose circumstances permit and justify their owning first class securities, when they look over holdings today, find the same very much depreciated in market value, i. e. will sell for very much less than price paid. If they were compelled to realize, they would suffer heavy loss. If the income from these securities continue, they are not only earning over the market interest returns, but the CAPITAL INVESTED NEVER SHRINKS. It's always available on call. The Tide never turns.

Again, People whose circumstances do not warrant owning the common stocks, even those of high standard, had best cling to the High Standard Account. The Deposit made is not only earning very reasonable interest, but the CAPITAL INVESTED NEVER SHRINKS. It's always available on call. The Tide never turns.

MACSWINEY WEAKER BUT STILL CONSCIOUS

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, was appreciably weaker today as a result of his hunger strike in prison. A bulletin issued by the Irish Free-termination league stated he had a very bad night, but he was still conscious and his mind was active. Today is the third day since he began his hunger strike, a protest against his arrest by British authorities in Cork.

Reports to the home office from the prison physicians, who are attending the lord mayor, did not agree with the bulletin issued by the league. They said there was virtually no change in his condition, and that he had passed a restful night.

TO FORM JEWISH SALVATION ARMY

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Plans for the formation of a Jewish Salvation Army, national in scope, patterned after the Christian Salvation Army, were announced today by the American Jewish Society.

"There are so many disturbing religious agencies active today," said Dr. Jacques Pollatschek, president of the Society, "which are making atheists of the rising Jewish generation, that some religious organization must be formed to counteract this effect."

TO OMIT DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Directors of the National Clock & Suit company decided today to omit the October dividend on the company's common stock.

It was stated that the board, although considering sales satisfactory, believed it prudent to conserve the cash of the company and build up its working capital in the present unsettled conditions in the trade.

This is the first dividend omitted since the initial dividend declaration in April, 1917.

DEMAND RELEASE OF MacSWINEY

British Government Scathingly Rebuked by Lowell Post, American Legion

Resolutions Recognizing Republic of Ireland and Release of Prisoners, Adopted

The "deliberate murder of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork," by the British government was scathingly rebuked and a demand made for the prompt recognition of the Irish republic, adopted by Post 87 of the American Legion at a meeting held in the Dutton street clubhouse last evening.

The resolutions were introduced by Robert A. Glinvan and were adopted by a unanimous vote.

The first resolve enunciated the principles that animated the United States in entering the world war, and stated that in accordance with these principles of the Irish people had built up a government similar to that of this country. It concluded with the statement that "Lowell Post 87 of the American Legion, all veterans of the world war, demands that America shall keep its sacred pledge and give forthwith full recognition to the republic of Ireland as established by the overwhelming vote of her people."

The second resolve stated that, "In defiance of all humanitarian principles, Great Britain continues in Ireland its regime of terror and fright."

SEND CONGRATULATIONS

Harding, Coolidge and McIntyre in Messages to Gov. Elect Parkhurst

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Gov. Coolidge and Col. H. Parkhurst, who was elected governor of Maine yesterday, exchanged congratulations today. Col. Parkhurst's telegram said:

"Maine indorses you as New England's candidate for vice president by a majority of over 60,000, the largest majority ever given in Maine. We appreciate your visit to Maine."

Gov. Coolidge sent the following reply:

"To you and the nation, I offer congratulations on your victory which means American people have decisively determined to defeat the present administration and its proposed successors in office; to support America at home and defend its citizens and perform its duties abroad."

McIntyre Sends Message

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 14.—Bertrand G. McIntyre today sent the following message of congratulation to Col. Parkhurst, successful candidate for governor on Monday's election:

"I express my heartfelt congratulations to you on your splendid victory. I want you to feel free to call upon me for anything I can do to help in the building and gratifying victory. I am a believer and lover of Maine and ready to do anything I can to help your administration."

Wire From Senator Harding

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 14.—Senator Warren G. Harding wired his congratulations to Col. Parkhurst today in the following message:

"Heartly congratulations on your overwhelming and gratifying victory. It augurs well for the party in November."

(Signed) WARREN G. HARDING.

Will Celebrate Later, Says White

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Commenting on yesterday's election in Maine George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, today issued the following statement:

"This is the republicans' day of rejoicing. They planned, labored and paid for it, and I would not by any utterance of mine, rob them of any of their need of joy. With a splendid organization and with the expenditure of every effort possible to great finances, they prepared the republican state of Maine for this state election in the belief of persuading the country that the trend is heavily republican in the national race."

"Had the democratic party been presented the same opportunity in a state where the trumpet call of democracy means as much as the clarion of republicanism in Maine, we should have made as nearly the same efforts possible with the same psychology in mind."

"We shall have votes for the League in November from thousands of the men and women who supported Col. Parkhurst. On a certain morning in November, our time forfeiting will come, and in the meantime, we gaze cheerfully upon today's republican demonstration and do not begrudge it to them at all."

ASSAULTED AN OFFICER

Two Men Get House of Correction Sentences for Assaulting Officer

George Johnson and Claude Smith were found guilty of assault upon Officer Joseph Clarke in police court this morning before Judge Enright and ordered to serve two months in the house of correction in Cambridge. A drunkenness complaint made against Johnson was placed on file, but on a similar charge, Smith was ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Officer Clarke said he met the two men on Middlesex street Sunday night about 12 o'clock and in attempting to arrest them was forced to use his club in self-defense. In the scuffle Johnson made a getaway up Middlesex street and was later caught hiding about the railroad tracks near Cushing street, but Smith was arrested near where the officer first accosted them, but only after considerable struggling.

Officer Clarke said that when he met the men on Middlesex street he ordered them to go home. Johnson, the bigger of the two, immediately showed resentment and attacked Clarke, striking him on the head. Smith then attacked the officer from the rear pummeling him about the head and shoulders. Clark drew his club, struck Johnson in the arm, but it was snatched out of his hands when he attempted to use it further. A number of young men prevented Smith and Johnson from using it upon the officer and at this point Johnson made a dash up Middlesex street with Officer Clarke after him firing his revolver. While running up Middlesex street Johnson met Lieut. Ryan and taking him by surprise, knocked him to the ground and made for the railroad tracks. Lieut. Ryan followed him and with his flashlight scoured the place.

Meanwhile, Officer Clarke returned to get Smith and was obliged to indulge in a rough-and-tumble in order to handcuff him.

In the arrest of Johnson, made later in Cushing street, Officer Clarke was assisted by Lieut. Ryan, Sergt. McMahon and Officer Crown, but at this time the defendant, after being found wholly submissive and got down on his knees and begged for mercy, according to the police. Officer Clarke said that Johnson carried a razor in his pocket.

Johnson and Smith both denied striking the officer and the latter claimed that he was not drunk, but submitted when Lieut. Ryan reported that he found several empty jammed ginger bottles in his room. Defendant Smith testified that he offered no resistance, but that the police beat him brutally and that he acted in self-defense.

Johnson was before the court before, arrested by Officer Clarke, and given a two months' sentence to the house of correction for the larceny of a taxicab. At the hospital he refused to admit any sign of fire. The alarm was sounded through a defect in the system.

SAYS ITALY HAS PASSED THROUGH CRISIS

ROME, Sept. 13.—Italy has passed through the crisis of the metal workers' movement, according to the Gloriosa Italia.

"Until last Saturday we were on the edge of Bolshevism," says, "that danger seems to be removed and leaders of workmen have become the aids of necessity to produce more. We shall see whether they are able to induce their followers to do so."

MILAN, Sept. 13.—Demands that the present movement of metal workers in Italy be extended in order to destroy the social system of Italy were made by Enrico Malatesta, anarchist leader, addressing a meeting of unions opposing the confederation of labor here today.

REFUSE TO SET MONEY ASIDE

City Council Divided on Question of Money Received for Firehouse

Mayor and Alderman Murphy Oppose Order Submitted by Alderman Marchand

The municipal council refused this morning to set aside $16,513.01, the net proceeds of the sale of the Westford street fire house, for the purchase of land for a new fire house in the Highlands section of the city.

The order appropriating the money for this purpose was presented by Commissioner Marchand. It appeared that its presentation had not been anticipated by some of the other commissioners and objection was immediately raised to its passage.

The mayor called attention to the fact that the order did not call for the purchase of any particular piece of property and that before a site could be bought it would be necessary for the council to act upon the matter again. He said that the object of the order seemed to be to prevent the money from getting into some other channel than that to which it had been tentatively pledged for the providing of a new fire station for the Highlands.

Commissioner Murphy objected to the passage of the order in the form in which it was presented. He thought that some definite site should be named and that there could be some assurance that not more than 25 per cent, in addition to its assessed value would be paid for the property bought.

No Use for Generations

"It is possible under that order," said Commissioner Murphy, "to buy a lot of land for generations."

WEALTH STORY IS EXPLODED

Woman Found in Attic Room in Lawrence Had Many Bank Books

Including Three on Lowell Banks Showing Deposits of Over $40,000

But Her Deposits Here Never Exceeded One Dollar in Any Bank

Police inspectors from Lawrence are here today, investigating the case of a woman known as Madame Paul Heaulieu, who is at the Municipal hospital in that city, suffering, physicians say, from the effects of morphine and other drugs.

A newswoman story from Lawrence yesterday stated that, although she lived like a pauper, she had $40,000, most of which was deposited in Lowell banks. It was quite an interesting story, but is not sustained by investigation made today by The Sun. There is considerable local interest connected with it, however, inasmuch as a Montreal bank sought to collect $500 on her account from a Lowell bank where she never had more than one dollar on deposit.

Two weeks ago, according to the Lawrence story, the woman in question arrived there from Montreal and took up her abode in an attic room of a lodging house on Broadway. During the intervening fortnight she lived in solitude and her hidden existence is

LOWELL STREETS ARE POORLY LIGHTED

Many Lowell citizens are up in arms over the alleged inadequate lighting of the streets of the city, according to a statement made by Commissioner of Highways Murphy at the city hall this morning.

The commissioner stated that complaints are constantly being made to his office regarding the darkness of streets, especially in the residential part of the city. He said that many of the streets are really not in a condition for safe travel by motorists after dark.

Some of the complaints visit the office in city hall in person and they bring with them loud complaints of woe. Others write to the commissioner. "A letter of the type recently received arrived in this morning's mail from Fred Timmins and was written on paper bearing the letter head of John C. Meyer Thread company in Middlesex street. The letter deplored the condition of some of the streets over which the writer was compelled to travel in his auto. The writer said that he had traveled about through many other cities and that the lighting conditions in Lowell were about the worst that he had found."

Mr. Timmins asserted that the people of Lowell seemed to be "asleep at the switches and do not take the pride in their city that they should." He expressed the hope that the people might awake to the fact nothing should be too good for Lowell and thought that the chamber of commerce might appropriately take hold of the matter of providing better street lights.

"Why don't you provide better street lighting for the city, if so many citizens are kicking about the darkness of the highways?" was asked of Commissioner Murphy.

"Haven't the money and can't get it," was the answer.

The commissioner admitted that, in his opinion, present street lighting conditions are deplorable.

MUFFY MOLE'S PLAN

"S matter?" asked Muff Mole of Floppy Field Mouse, after the two had gone about three turns past the fence-corner toward the Meadow Grove schoolhouse. Because Floppy was looking so glum.

"S matter with you, yourself?" asked Floppy, kicking away a stone.

"Oh, I don't want to go to school today," grumbled Muff, stopping suddenly with his ear to the ground. "Hear that, and that, and that? The storm yesterday brought up all the earth worms and it's elegant hunting."

"Same here!" nodded Floppy sympathetically. "Corn's sweetest ever, and I know where the biggest ears are. I'd like to stay at home but my dad won't let me."

Floppy looked at Muff and Muff looked at Floppy with a great understanding of each other's sorrows.

"Mine won't either. Isn't life awful!"

Along they went walking slower and slower as they neared the school.

fulness and continues to wage through her armed forces war upon the women and men of Ireland and has resorted to the slow and deliberate murder of Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, and his colleagues now in British prisons, thereby rending the heart of the world, therefore that Lowell Post 67 of the American Legion, all veterans who fought to do away with military autocracy, both unanimously place on record its abhorrence of the wicked and barbarous acts of the imperial government of Great Britain and both unqualifiedly demand the withdrawal by that government of its armed forces from Ireland and the immediate and unconditional release and repatriation by it of the lord mayor of Cork and his colleagues.

It was also voted unanimously at the meeting, that the legion should accept the offer of the Community Service to turn over its lease of the clubhouse building on Dutton street into the hands of the legion together with sufficient funds to run the clubhouse for four months. In the discussion that preceded the acceptance of the offer, Mr. Toye said that while he was in favor of the acceptance of the offer he should like to know whether the owner of the building, the First Congregational church, would allow dancing and boxing exhibitions in the building. Mr. Bates said that he had talked the matter over with the church trustees and that they had assured him that there would be no objection to these pastimes provided they were conducted under legal auspices.

Others who took part in the discussion of the clubhouse question were Commander Paulkner, Adjutant McCready, Dr. Livingston, Joseph A. Molloy, Daniel P. Brennan, M. H. Harrington, Stephen C. Garrity and John J. Cullen.

State Vice Commander William Doyle of Malden was present at the meeting. He spoke regarding the carnival that the legion is to conduct at the Casino to raise funds for free beds for former service men in St. John's and the Lowell General Hospital. Together with other members of his post the speaker took a number of tickets for the drawing, that is to be a feature of the carnival, to be disposed of in Malden.

Vice Commander Doyle aroused enthusiasm when he said that Malden, Melrose and Lowell posts should get behind the candidacy of Luther Paulkner of Lowell for the position of state commander of the American Legion. It was voted to give James Powers authority to assemble a baseball team to represent the legion in a game with the Gillespie Thursday evening for the benefit of "Buck" Freeman. It was requested that the following players should communicate with Powers: Cawley, Gill, Farrell, Parker, Mills, Lynch, Twomey, Jenkins, Keyes, Pannell, Merritt, Devlin, Lyons, Scully, Dolan, Dean, Halsey, Bridgeford, Mc-Pherson, "Herb" White, Bradbury, Linton, McCarthy and any other American Legion players who will be available for the game.

James Gleason was given authority to use the name of the legion for a football team.

Reports were made by Chairman Cullen of the social welfare committee, Rev. Fr. Mahan of the employment committee, Robert A. Ginnivan and John O'Grady on the recent barbecue and James P. McCready on naturalization. Comrade Walsh announced that Commissioner Salmon had given the use of the fire department auto to Comrade McCready to use in making a tour of the fire stations for the sale of raffie tickets.

Afternoon. The result showed that most of them voted the republican ticket.

Col. Parkhurst's Comment

As the returns came in, showing from the first evidences of a tremendous republican sweep, democratic state leaders were silent as to the possible significance of the vote with relation to the presidential election in November. Col. Parkhurst, after being assured of his election, gave the viewpoint of the republicans in a statement in which he pointed out that the campaign had been "vigorously contested by the democrats on national issues," and said that the outcome gave "most conclusive evidence that the voters of Maine resent the autocratic and un-American administration that the democrats have given us." He declared that it was "equally an endorsement of Harding and Coolidge." Campaign on National Issues

Matters of merely state importance were hardly touched upon in the campaign. The leading speakers were men of national prominence, both parties striving to effect a good showing in the "barometer" state, the only state in the union to hold its state election in advance of the voting for president. The chief theme of all the speakers was the League of Nations, upon which they upheld their respective national party platforms.

The total vote for governor, with the missing towns estimated, was about 205,000. The largest previous total was in 1916, when, with two minor parties polling 1718 votes, the total was 151,430. In that year Carl E. Milliken, republican, obtained a plurality of 13,530 over Oakley C. Curtis, democrat. The total vote for president in Maine in that year was 136,314, with a plurality for Hughes, republican, of 5475.

Largest Previous Plurality in 1896

To find the largest plurality previously given a candidate for governor in the state, it is necessary to go back to 1896, when, in a total vote of 123,515, Lewis W. Powers, republican, was elected governor by a margin of 48,246 votes over Melvin P. Frank, democrat. In that year minor parties cast a total of 6570 votes. There was no minor party vote this year.

The republicans carried every county in the state yesterday. In 1916 two counties went democratic. Seventeen of the 20 cities gave republican pluralities yesterday as against 12 in the last presidential year. Portland, the largest city in the state, gave Parkhurst a plurality of 4775, whereas in 1916, Milliken's plurality was only 506. The total vote of Portland was: Parkhurst 5426; McIntyre 4651.

In the three cities which remained in the democratic column—Biddeford, Lewiston and Waterville, the pluralities for the ticket were cut down substantially from those of 1916. Ten of the democratic representatives elected were from these three cities.

Woman Candidate Beaten

In the 20 cities the republican plurality was 15,239, against only 49 in 1916. The total city vote yesterday was: Parkhurst 41,276; McIntyre 26,037. Four years ago it was: Milliken 23,835; Curtis 23,765.

Col. Parkhurst, the governor-elect, was nominated at the primaries in a three-cornered contest in which he defeated Governor Carl E. Milliken and Judge John P. Deering. He is a former chairman of the republican state committee and has served in both branches of the legislature. Mr. McIntyre was the democratic nominee for governor two years ago, when Governor Milliken was chosen for a second term by a plurality of 5545. The total vote in that year was 117,569. The only woman who was a candidate for public office at the election yesterday was defeated. Mrs. Margaret Dyer of Bar Harbor was the democratic candidate for register of probate in Hancock county. She was nominated to fill a vacancy on the democratic ticket and as her name did not appear on the ballot it was necessary for those voting for her to write in her name. In her home town which lost 340 votes for Parkhurst and 433 for McIntyre, she received 269 votes, with a scattering vote throughout the county.

Propositions Accepted

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—Three out of four propositions submitted to the voters at the state election yesterday were overwhelmingly approved on the face of partial returns, while the other providing for a state income tax apparently was disapproved by a wide margin.

The constitutional amendments providing for more than one voting place in towns and authorizing the legislature to provide for a $3,000,000 issue of state bonds for the payment of a bonus to soldiers and sailors had margins of 12,454 and 24,370, respectively, according to returns from 80 towns in Androscoggin, Cumberland, Kennebec and York counties out of 513 in the state.

The act of the legislature giving women the right to vote for presidential electors, on which a referendum was demanded, was favored by 12,522 in the state, while the income tax amendment failed by 3328. The totals were as follows:

	Yes	No
Plural voting places.....	27,363	3,575
Soldiers bonus.....	35,672	11,302
State income tax.....	16,261	25,153
Suffrage.....	22,465	10,246

HARDING'S COMMENT ON MAINE VICTORY

NARION, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Senator Harding issued the following statement last night after he had been informed that the Maine election results indicated a sweeping victory for the republican ticket:

"The result in Maine is reassuring that the American people mean to return to representative government under the constitution through the agency of the republican party and that

It Is Easy to Lose an Unsightly Complexion

Have you ever exclaimed as you beheld your complexion in the mirror, "If I only could get rid of this old skin!" And, do you know you can do that very thing? Not to actually remove the entire skin all of a sudden; that would be too horrible a method, and painful, too. The worn-out cuticle comes off in such tiny particles, and so gradually, it doesn't hurt a bit. Little by little the beautiful complexion underneath comes forth. Marvellous! No matter how maddly rough, blotchy or freckled your complexion, you can surely discard it by this simple process. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercuric wash at your drugstore, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. The result will be truly marvelous. The wrinkles can be gotten rid of by an equally simple method: dissolve in an ounce of pure powdered axolite 1/2 a half pint of witch hazel and bathing your face in the solution, every line will completely disappear. First the finer lines, finally even the deep crow's feet.—Adv.

Maine takes the lead in declaring for America unmortgaged to the old world, and still ready to serve humanity as American conscience impels."

Primary in Vermont

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 14.—Vermont republicans balloted today to nominate a candidate for governor from among a field of four aspirants and in the second district, to select a congressional candidate. Democratic participation in the primary was small as there were no contests for leading places on that party's ticket.

The four men who sought the republican gubernatorial nomination which usually is equivalent to election in this state, were Frank W. Agan of Ludlow; Fred H. Babbitt of Rockingham; Curtis S. Emery of Newport, and James Harkness of Springfield. Fred C. Martin of Bennington was unopposed for the democratic nomination for chief executive.

In the second district, Congressman Porter H. Dale was opposed for renomination by Ernest W. Gibson of Brattleboro, and John W. Gordon of Barre. Senator William P. Dillingham and Congressman Frank L. Greene of Vermont primary. They had registered in large numbers throughout the state and it was predicted they would Women voted for the first time in a cast a heavy vote.

CHICAGO STRIKE ENDS

Admission by Leader of Striking Railroadmen That Walkout Over Made Today

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Admission by John Grunewald, leader of the striking switchmen, yardmen and engineers in the Chicago switching district, that the walkout had ended, was made public today. At meetings called by the men last night big majorities were reported in favor of returning to their former positions.

Story of Wealth is Exploded

the room was not disclosed until Saturday night, when she attempted to light a gas jet, and the jet fire to hanging wall paper nearby.

Upon searching the bed the officers, it was alleged, found a quantity of drugs. Apparently seeking to locate any more drugs which she might have in her possession they asked her for a trunk which was in her room. At first she refused to turn it over, but later relinquished her stand and delivered the trunk.

Then the story went on to say that the drug searchers were ascribed to find cheques and bank books showing cash deposits amounting to upwards of $10,000. Among the security mentioned in the story was a book on a Lowell bank carrying a deposit of $25,000 made last July, cheques made payable to her and drawn on Lowell and Montreal banks, and varying in sums from $50 to $5,000, and two other bank books on Lowell banks and one on a Montreal bank.

The banks on which the woman was supposed to have the deposits in this city were the Washington Savings bank, the Central Savings bank and the City Institution for Savings. At the Central Savings bank it was learned that in October, 1917, Bernadette Beaulieu made a deposit of one dollar in trust for Albert V. Carrier and that amount with interest was withdrawn in 1919 after the woman had sent letters to the Lowell bank from Montreal. At the City Institution for Savings it was stated that Mrs. Beaulieu made a deposit there of one dollar in 1917 and withdrew the money out a couple of years later.

Another deposit of one dollar was made at the Washington Savings bank of this city by the same woman in 1917, and in May, 1919, the woman, who was then located in Canada, wrote to the bank officials, stating that she had lost her bank book and would like to withdraw her money. With the result that a few days later a cheque for one dollar was mailed to her. One of the officials of the bank stated this afternoon that some time ago a Canadian bank endeavored to collect about $5000 from the Washington Savings bank of this city on the account of Mrs. Beaulieu. The bank officials wrote back to the Canadian bank to the effect that the deposit never amounted to more than one dollar and that it had been withdrawn, and the correspondence between the Canadian bank and the Lowell bank ended right there.

DEMANDS BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

Better fire protection for the centre of the city was demanded this morning by Commissioner Salmon of the fire and water works department.

In an interview he called attention to the fact that the great fire hazard in Lowell is located in the centre of the city. He said that some of the large buildings are not equipped with automatic sprinklers, as they should be, and that in case of fire they would of for a serious problem for the handling of the department.

He called attention to the fact that the present fire headquarters are near the centre of a danger zone and that a blaze might at any time put the fire alarm system of the city out of commission. He thinks that the system should be installed in a fireproof building.

If a fire should start in the centre of the city, it was asserted, and put the fire alarm out of commission, the rest of the city would be left in an exceedingly perilous condition.

The two new firemen, recently added to the department, have not yet been permanently assigned to stations and will not be until the shifting about of men that characterizes the annual vacation season is complete, it was stated by the commissioner this morning. The two new men are William G. Chalm, 45 Coral street, and Stephen J. Callahan, 79 Walnut street. The department now has on its rolls the names of 174 persons, the number called for by recommendations of the board of fire underwriters.

WINS IN RECOUNT

Wm. J. Hennessy, Dealer by One Vote in Original Returns, Lands on Top For House Nomination

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—William J. Hennessy, not James Moyahian, is the second democratic nominee for the house in Ward 13, as was developed in the recount of Tuesday's primary vote yesterday. At Fenwick hall, Moyahian lost seven votes in the recount. Originally, the figures gave Moyahian second place over Hennessy by one vote. F. X. Coyne, nominated by a generous margin, lost none of his vote. He and Hennessy are therefore winners.

In the Ward 17 democratic house contest, Daniel Murphy gained three votes, but Frank Cowin still led him by three votes on the recount. No change was recorded in recounts for the two East Boston wards in connection with democratic house nominations.

watch and Smith was fined once before for assault and battery.

Autoist Fined

Harry Rosendale, charged with operating his automobile on Varnum avenue on August 3 and failing to give the proper signal at an intersecting street and also with endangering the lives and safety of the public, was fined $5 on the first count and $25 on the second. Motorcycle Officer Hamilton testified against Rosendale.

Wagner Discharged

John Wagner, of Primrose Hill, Dracut, charged with unlawfully carrying a pistol, was discharged because of lack of evidence. His case was called on September 3 and continued under bonds of $500 to this date.

Arthur G. Marcell, called on continuance from yesterday on a complaint charging neglect of wife, was put under bonds of $300 for three months and ordered to pay $10 per week to the probation officer for the support of his wife under a suspended sentence of five months to the house of correction. Marcell was represented in court this morning and was reported that when working steady he made $40 per week.

Other Auto Cases

Henry Shaw, defendant in a case involving a violation of the city ordinance parking laws in regard to Payne street, was ordered under personal recognizance of $100 for trial on September 20.

Louis H. Demange waived a hearing through his counsel this morning in a complaint charging him with operating an automobile without a license, after entering a plea of guilty, and was put over until December 14. Demange is an employee of the Vesper country club and on Saturday night took a friend's machine without permission, and in driving through Lakeview avenue damaged it considerably by running into a tree. He was arrested by Constable Coffin of Dracut.

Drunkard Offenders

Michael O'Gieve pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was given a sentence of three months to the house of correction suspended for one day with orders to leave the city.

Della Peabody who entered a plea of not guilty on a charge of drunkenness and was called on continuance this morning, was held for Probation Officer Ramsey of the superior court. When arrested for her last offense for drunkenness the defendant was on probation from superior court and on receipt of a warrant from the probation officer her case in the lower court was placed on file.

and that the city may not use for generations.

Commissioner Marchand stated that the order was drawn simply to make it sure that the money would be used to provide the Highlands with a fire station.

"The commissioner lives in the Highlands and is only interested in looking out for the interests of his constituents," said Commissioner Murphy.

the meeting that the same order, without the emergency clause attached, would be presented at the next meeting of the council.

When a bill for $3,025 for work done on the Lawrence street bridge was presented for approval, Commissioner Marchand inquired: "Wasn't that bill approved the other day?"

City Auditor Hennessy explained that the bill as formerly approved had not been in such shape that he could pass it, and that it would therefore be necessary for the council to act upon it a second time. The bill was approved.

A communication was read from the board of assessors stating that the board has a sliver of ancient date and uncertain usefulness that it wished to sell for $300. The sale was authorized.

Defect in Sidewalk

Leontine M. LaRue, wife of Ursis LaRue, of 35 Gersholm avenue, presented a petition asking to be recompensed for injury received as the result of a defect in a sidewalk opposite property owned by the city near her home. She said in her petition that her wrist had been broken and that she has been otherwise hurt as the result of a fall. She said that it had been necessary for her daughter, Blanche, to give up work in the Ipswich Hosiery company plant for three and a half months to care for her. The matter was referred to the mayor and city solicitor.

Harry P. Entwistle of Third avenue presented a petition for recompense for injuries received in falling into a hole a foot deep and a foot wide in the sidewalk on Moody street near the end of the bridge. He said that the accident happened September 8 while he was on the way to a movie show, and that it was due to the place being improperly lighted. Referred to the mayor and city solicitor.

It was voted to place Carl Noyes, a chauffeur in the police department, on a pension of $12.50 a year.

Petitions Are Considered

A petition was presented by the Lowell Electric Light corporation for the erection of a pole on Mt. Washington street.

A representative of Joseph L. Cushing, 32 Mt. Washington street, appeared as a protestant against the granting of the petition on the ground that shade trees would be damaged and an obstruction set up that would interfere with the entrance to a driveway. It was suggested that the pole be placed on the opposite side of the street.

The petition was referred to the commissioner on highways and the commission on licenses.

The petition of the Armory Garage for permission to maintain a gasoline tank at Grand and Westford streets was referred to the commissioner on waterworks and fire protection.

Other petitions acted upon were as follows:

Petitions from the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for erection of a pole on Marsh street. Withdrawn.

Petition of Lowell Electric Light corporation for erection of pole on Jennings street. Referred.

gasoline tanks at 15 Preston street and on Lowell avenue were also referred for a hearing October 5.

When the petition of Taylor & Brock for the erection of a garage at 2 Quimby avenue was presented, Commissioner Salmon said that objection had been raised to the granting of the petition by people living in the neighborhood, but that as the concern had complied with all the requirements of state and municipal laws, there seemed no good reason why the petition should not be granted. Granted.

For Laying a Conduit

Petition for permission to open a trench for laying a conduit on the premises of Walter J. Bagshaw on Fairmount avenue. Referred.

Petitions from the Lowell Electric Light corporation for the placing of attachments on poles in Ward street, Pawtucket boulevard, Andover street and Varnum avenue.

A petition for a sidewalk in front of 472 and 474 Wilder street was ordered to lie in the city clerk's office for seven days.

NOTHING DREADEFUL COMING

There are a great many people looking into the future with a degree of trepidation. They see such rapid transitions in other parts of the world that they feel it will soon be our turn to go through some sort of cataclysm. Socialists, anarchists and other revolutionaries are hopeful that a day will soon dawn on which they will have an opportunity to apply their principles of plunder and rapine.

But so far as the signs go, these prophets of evil will be disappointed. If they judge of this nation from what has occurred elsewhere, their conclusions will be as far from the truth as are their economic theories.

It is worthy of note that the radical element is not nearly so active here as formerly. Those who have been deported are longing to return. Even Emma Goldman who might be supposed to find supreme happiness in Russia where all her theories of government or lack of government are in full swing, yearns for the United States and finds the regime of Trotsky and Lenin all but intolerable. But Emma must bear it. She cannot return to these shores to live under the flag which she so often dishonored by her traitorous harangues.

The difference between this and other countries in reference to government is, that we have a written constitution which guarantees to all citizens absolute justice and equality before the law. Elected officials may make blunders and administrative may go wrong, but in each and every such case, the sovereign people have the power to re-establish the rule of exact justice as provided for under our constitution. That instrument is the palladium of our liberties, the guarantee of our rights and its very existence is a protection against the upheavals that are sweeping over the old world and before which empires crumble and dynasties disappear.

Therefore, it is that we can assure our citizens of permanent security, of the absence of any power that can overturn the foundation stone of our national freedom to make way for the vagaries which have already not only plundered the people of Russia, but deluged the country in blood. Political parties may assail one another and charge corruption and in such charges there may be more or less truth; but if so, it then becomes the duty of the people to pass a just verdict, one that will condemn the wrong and uphold the right, always pointing to the ideals of human freedom, as the magnet to the pole.

MISTAKES OF POLICE OFFICERS

The average police officer requires to have a fair amount of common sense to guide him in the application of his authority in all cases. True he is clothed with considerable authority, but he is to exercise it legally. If he errs, he becomes amenable to law as any other citizen. It is an indisputable fact of which the courts are numerous, that very often the average police department of cities has members who are not fitted for the duties assigned them. By their action they provoke violations of law rather than the reverse and thereby bring the whole department into public contempt.

When an officer is interfered with in the discharge of his duty to the extent of rescuing a prisoner and assaulting him, he will be justified in using his revolver.

In Charlestown on Sunday an officer was thus attacked and in the melee he shot two persons who apparently had no part in the disturbance. This may have been accidental; but had he shot one or more of the men who assaulted him and carried off his prisoner, we do not believe he would have exceeded his authority. But another case in which an officer used his revolver in making an arrest, stands in striking contrast to the Charlestown affair. An officer at Somersworth, N. H., arrested a young man for drunkenness and brought him to the door of the lockup. There the prisoner offered some resistance, whereupon the officer drew his revolver and shot him twice with probably fatal results. That officer apparently was guilty of a wanton misuse of the gun. What is more natural than that a drunken prisoner will offer some resistance. But in such a case the officer is justified in using only enough force to land his man in the lockup. If he cannot do so himself he is at liberty to call on civilians to assist him; but in such a case there is no justification whatever for taking the prisoner's life.

WHAT FOOLS!

"What fools these mortals be?" But a few weeks ago we saw Stephens sacrifice his life in trying to shoot Niagara Falls in a barrel.

Had he succeeded, he would have won a temporary notoriety that might have brought him an engagement in the movies; but in a few months his feat would have been forgotten or disregarded by the great mass of mankind. As it was, he failed and left a widow and orphans to mourn his loss. Steve Brody's jump from the Brooklyn bridge was equally foolhardy. If not so disastrous. Such daring is wasted in feats that, if successful, serve no good purpose.

In line with this is the proposition of a young lady of Winnipeg to swim around the world. She started down the St. Lawrence river and had to be taken out in a fish net to save her from her own foolishness.

Such daring exerted in the cause of science or progress would accomplish much; but of late these dazed seekers after fame devote their attention mainly to exploits which, if successful, will benefit nobody and with death the usual alternative. It is a case of playing fast and loose with death.

We live in a record-breaking age and the craze in every department of human activity to exceed all former achievements, is good to the extent that it serves a worthy cause and shows what is possible or what can be accomplished by courage and self-sacrifice. But human health and life are too precious to be wasted in exploits that can never benefit mankind and that in a great many cases end in disaster. The man who dies for a noble cause or to accomplish some great reform, becomes a nation renowned hero; but some action may be necessary to restrain those who would throw their lives away in the performance of feats whose main purpose is notoriety.

AIR MAIL SERVICE

Air mail service across the continent is now an established fact. It will entail loss of life through accident, but such risks are readily assumed by aviators in the quest for speed. Under favorable conditions, the risks will not be more than are ordinarily attached to aviation, but in rough weather or when the airplanes meet snow storms or cloudbursts, the case will be different. There is ever present the danger that if the engine stops working, the airplane must come down regardless of the nature of the surface underneath, whether it be a lake, a forest or a desert. It cannot be expected that airplanes that fly at high speed can rest in the air like the Zeppelin.

In the first experiment, the time of 73 hours exceeded the estimate given out by the postal department; but undoubtedly this record will be reduced when the aviators become accustomed to the trip.

All the political affairs that but a few weeks ago were exclusively those of men are now equally those of women and his special sphere of action has dwindled toward the point of evanescence. Alone he can enjoy the solace of his pipe, but if reports be true, he will eventually deprive him of that unless the women interfere to say, "We too will hit the pipe and hence it must remain."

They are having the usual experience in Methuen, where, having hurled anathemas at Millionaire Seashell when he was alive, they are trying to canonize him now that he is dead. This reminds us again that "Seven cities claimed the Homer dead through which the living Homer begged his bread."

Apparently, in the opinion of Judge Cox, a man who has been arrested once for indecently without fear of further punishment, providing he takes the precaution not to interrupt his jag with any sobering-up intervals.

The republicans of Suffolk county showed that they knew a good thing when they see it when they cast more votes in the primaries for John A. Fletcher, democratic nominee for sheriff, than they did for the candidate of their own party.

It may not be as thrilling as the movies, but there should be ample material of interest for voters at the meeting of the charter commission in the city hall this evening with Mayor Thompson, and his heads of departments, on the grill.

The charter commission can perform a service of real benefit to humanity if it can discover why it is that what would be a comfortable job of work for one person, in the case of a municipality, always blossoms into jobs for two or three people.

The anti-vivisectionists wrote to Mr. Harding, asking him to express his approval of their cause, and his answer that he approves of all humane endeavor is as wobbly as might be expected, since the vivisectionists, without the anti, claim that their work is in the interest of humanity.

The Reds, who were deported last winter and who were told as soon as they reached soviet Russia that they must go to work on the railroads or they would be forthwith shot, have probably revised some of the opinions that led to their exclusion from the land of Uncle Sam.

It must make a pessimist regarding the future of Lowell feel that after all it is dyspepsia that is the matter with him when he gets a glance at the newly opened public schools literally bulging with enthusiastic pupils.

If there are many more closings of banks in which funds of the commonwealth are on deposit, we may have to conclude that we need a new state of affairs—an examiner of the bank examiner.

One law that is bound straight for the discard is that under which a Massachusetts woman lost her vote in the primary election because she married a man who is not a citizen, on the day previous to the voting.

At the present rate of progress toward establishing a new central post-office in Lowell, we may hope to get around to using it about the time that Governor Cox's second presidential term expires.

We can be thankful for one thing the Associated Press didn't call those ballstones that did such tremendous damage in Providence "as big as hen's eggs." It gave their exact dimensions—one and one-half inches in diameter.

Let the band play, "See the Conquering Hero Comes," as the gladiatorial appears on the horizon and the souls of the baseball diamond turn their faces toward the setting sun.

The Sun wishes a very happy new year to the ancient people, the Hebrews, who are now celebrating the passing of another milestone in the long history of their race.

The world may be growing more honest every year, but we notice that the largest and glossiest apples still find a place at the top of the barrels.

The hand that rocks the cradle threatens to rock the politician's boat.

The moth that gets into a bathing suit this autumn will starve to death.

Is your happiness keener if something you buy makes your neighbors jealous?

A paragrapher is never nonplused. If the word isn't pronounced that way, he may say the congressman went to Japan for the sack's sake.

An apple hanging on a limb was just a bit of fruit to him until the land was voted dry; he viewed it then with different eye.

A Houston, Tex., man was pronounced dead nine times and came back to life each time. He maltreated the undertakers.

Grabaki

The Polish minister of finance says America must continue lending Poland financial and economic assistance, and perhaps even military aid. Otherwise, he declares, the $100,000,000 America has loaned Poland will be thrown away for the Bolsheviks will get it. The name of this minister of finance is Grabaki. They name their ministers well in Poland.

The "Negligible"

The phrase, "The negligible in adventure," titillates our fancy. While we are about it we purpose compiling a list of the trials of domesticity which come properly under that head. We place these in the category of major offenses.

Something Lacking

(Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.) I wish I had something to worry about.

Like Solomon Simpson and Oliver Prout.

For they love to be blue, and perhaps so would I.

But the blue that I see is the blue of the sky.

And there's so much in nature and so much in art.

And my stomach is working as fine as my heart.

And there's little I've got that I can't do without.

So what in the deuce can I worry about?

I wish I had something to snarl up my nose.

Like Oily and Solly, for they, I suppose.

They feel so exalted in running folks down.

That they really are too good to live in the town.

But the people I meet are as pleasant and nice.

As a strawberry tart with a pineapple top.

So my nose is a catfish, a coward and a churl.

For it just absolutely refuses to snarl.

I wish there were something to stir up my wrath.

And sweep all obstructionists out of the path.

For Oily and Solly both tell me I should.

If ever myself or my cause come to good.

But when I meet people as clever as I whose opinions both Solly and Oily deny.

Well, somehow my calm and benevolent choler.

Refuses to stand on its hind legs and howl.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I happened to pick up in the city library the other day a "History of Journalism." It was dedicated to Theodore Roosevelt, who understood newspapers and newspapermen.

I think most newspapermen who knew Mr. Roosevelt will agree with the appropriateness of the dedication. It fate had cut out a different pathway in life for him I believe he would have become a great journalist. He had a remarkable appreciation of news values—of the striking, the dramatic. It was his faculty of "getting on" with newspaper men that was a leading element of his greatness. Newspaper men always had a first place in his affections. I can imagine him keeping a group of ambassadors of all the great powers on earth waiting while he talked with a bunch of reporters. Not only that, but he was almost invariably willing to pose for photographs, and he would often pull and haul distinguished statesmen and public men about most unceremoniously to get them into the places in a picture where he thought they ought to be. Curiously enough my own most lasting impression of "Teddy," as the reporters always liked to call him, is not of him addressing a vast audience that he could sway to wild truntings of enthusiasm. The presidential train one autumn evening was trundling along down the bank of the Androscoggin river in Maine between Lewiston and Brunswick when it came to a stop because of a hot box, or something of the kind, on the locomotive.

A group of farmers gathered around and, as it was just dusk, a bonfire was started. Mr. Roosevelt from the lowliest step of his car, with the freight flickering over the group, began such a simple, kindly talk on the old fashioned virtues of home life and good citizenship as might have come from his lips. I could imagine, if he were seated with a little bunch of intimate friends around a fireplace in his own home in Oyster Bay.

I have received the following interesting letter: "I have read in your paper under the heading 'Man About Town,' of the flower commonly called Indian pipe. You have mentioned it twice, so I thought you might be interested in a little more about it. It is quite common around Lowell. It can be found along the Pawtucket boulevard, on the Dracut ridge and around Long pond, to mention one or two places. It is also called the corpse plant. Its botanical name is Monotropa uniflora and it belongs to the monotropa or birdsnest family. It lives upon dead roots and leaves.—Alice Miller."

IMAGINE RIDING THIS GOAT!

WASHINGTON—Wap-See-He-Hong sounds like a Chinese laundry, but you're all wrong. It's the name of the peculiar animal shown above and in plain English it means "great wolf slayer." Wap is noted for his three horns and was originally owned by the Yaqui Indians in Mexico. He presided over a herd of plain, two-horned goats and was a fine protection against wolves. Now he's mascot of the Kallipolis Grotto, Mystic Order of Veiled Prophets. Imagine "riding the goat" in this organization.

Says She Is More Grateful To

Tanlac Than Words Can

Express For It Brought Her

Health and Happiness

"I am more grateful to Tanlac than words can express for it has given me health and happiness after twelve long years of suffering," was the statement made the other day by Mrs. Olivine Feltner, No. 26 East Allen St., Winooski, Vt.

"I had been troubled so long with nervousness and sleeplessness that my housework was a drudgery and I got little pleasure out of life. My appetite left me entirely and at times I could hardly bear the sight of food and what little I did eat caused me severe suffering afterward. Gas would form on my stomach so badly that it affected my heart and I thought I had heart trouble.

"I was so nervous I would jump at the least unexpected noise and would drop everything I had in my hands. I got so weak and faint at times that I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling over. My sleep was broken and restless and I was losing weight rapidly. I had little strength or energy and, as I had tried all kinds of medicine without relief, I had become very much discouraged over my condition.

"My husband had been taking Tanlac and when I saw what wonderful results he was getting I decided to try it myself and now I think as much of Tanlac as he does because it has helped me the same way.

HARDING SAYS WILSON COX DECLARES LIQUOR QUESTION IS DEAD HOPED TO KEEP R. R.'S

MARION, O., Sept. 14.—Reaffirming his support of the Cummins-Esch act restoring the railroads to their owners, Senator Harding charged in a speech before a delegation of railway workers here late yesterday by assuming control of the roads at the Wilson administration had sought to impose a policy based on permanent government operation.

Harding the experiment proved a success the republican nominee declared the administration would have favored retention of the transportation lines and other public utilities under government control. The war, he said, had offered an opportunity to try out the scheme only because it permitted administration officials to "take advantage of the anxieties of the people" in asking authority to take over the properties.

The senator also assailed as "socialistic" and "revolutionary" the plan supported by some labor leaders to put railroads at the disposal of the railway workers.

Several hundred men composing the Harding and Coolidge Railway club of Marion were in the delegation and they cheered the nominee as he hit at class rule and lauded the labor provisions of the act.

They carried banners expressing their support in such inscriptions as "The government must change conductors," and "Safety first, not sidetrack us," and "Safety first, not sidetrack us."

J. W. Roseberry, past president of the local unit of the Order of Railway Trainmen, told Senator Harding he hoped by coming to prove the fallacy of "the impression that railway workers are opposed to your candidacy because of your support of the Cummins-Esch act."

Senator Harding said his suspicion that the taking over of the railroads was more impelled by the thought of modifying our government policy than the developing of better service was later on "confirmed by the insistence of the administration that it be given authority to take over the telephone and telegraph lines."

Though congress stipulated that no seizure of the wire lines would be made unless the exigencies of war urgently required it, he said, a new condition of peril arose, the telephone and telegraph lines were seized.

"If the experiment with the railroads and these communication lines had been successful, it reasonably may be assumed that the policy would have been made permanent. Such was the undoubted intent of the present administration."

"The nominee said the Cummins-Esch law provided a maintenance of rates for six months to make possible the financing of necessary improvements, and stipulated no reduction in railway wages, giving the railway workers 'precisely the same guarantee that we gave to the American owners.'"

"He declared the act facilitates collective bargaining and provides that the workers shall be generously compensated, and establishes, for the first time in America, a tribunal through which the government can be given expression."

FORESTERS HEAR SUPPORT OF IRISH

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 14.—The 11th annual convention of the Irish National Foresters of the United States opened yesterday for a three-day session with about 150 delegates and invited guests in attendance from all parts of the country. Gov. Beekman and Mayor Gainer welcomed the delegates.

Gov. Beekman touched briefly on the Irish question. "God bless you all and may your order and your country be as happy as I want them to be," he declared.

Mayor Gainer, speaking in the same strain, said: "Love cannot help but exist for any country where idealism and idealism are held in such high esteem."

High Chief Ranger Michael J. Skinner of Cambridge, Mass., thanked the speakers for their hearty greetings, and spoke briefly of the success of the order, which now ranked in the foremost of fraternal organizations.

MATRIMONIAL

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place this morning at St. Columba's church, when Mr. Charles Frederick Brennan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Brennan, of 254 Mammoth road, and Miss Agnes Lillian Walsh, daughter of Police Inspector and Mrs. John A. Walsh, of 145 Mammoth road, and a teacher at the Green school, were united in the bonds of matrimony.

The ceremony being performed at 11 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Formers. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary E. Kiehl, of Salem, while the best man was Mr. John A. Walsh, Jr., a brother of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a brief reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a buffet luncheon was served.

Attending the festivities were guests from Salem and Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Brennan left on an extended honeymoon trip and after December 1 they will be at home to their friends at 147 Mammoth road.

SARGENT-QUINN

A pretty September wedding took place in the private chapel of the immaculate Conception rectory, when Miss Theresa V. Quinn, a popular cell operator at the local exchange, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter J. Sargent of this city. Rev. William Noonan, a classmate of the bride, performed the ceremony and also officiated at the nuptial mass, which followed.

The bride was crowned in white crepe with Venetian lace trimmings and wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas, Miss Elizabeth Quinn, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore pink georgette crepe and tulle with bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Mr. John C. Sargent, a brother of the groom. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents, 15 Harrison street. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent left on a honeymoon trip to the Virgin mountains and on their return will reside at 50 Leroy street, this city.

Taxi COTE'S 1829-W

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 14.—The liquor question "is as dead as slavery," and the present question is one of law enforcement, said Gov. Cox, democratic presidential candidate, to a large audience at the auditorium here yesterday. His statement was a reply to a question shouted from the galleries.

"How about the liquor question?" a man yelled.

"I understand," the governor replied, "that some newspapers out here have lost their former interest in the league. Apparently one of their readers is interested in a subject as dead as slavery."

Gov. Cox continued: "This is a country of free speech. You are entitled to know how I stand. This is a question of law enforcement. Let me tell you that while I was governor of Ohio, before national prohibition for the first time in history, the front door and the back door of every saloon in Ohio was closed on Sunday."

To an audience of women yesterday afternoon Gov. Cox made another statement in regard to the liquor question, pledging himself to "enforce all laws regardless of what interests may be affected."

Outlining his financial policy, Gov. Cox included a proposal for a budget commissioner to act as executive assistant to the president.

GOLD WATCH FOR F. D. ROOSEVELT

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 14.—After a rest of several days Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic vice presidential nominee, resumed the stump by addressing a large rally in Music Hall yesterday afternoon. Dr. Seth W. Jones, collector of internal revenue here, presided. Many women were present.

Mr. Roosevelt was met at the 307 train from Boston by the reception committee, consisting of ex-Mayors Daniel W. Badger and Dr. Samuel T. Ladd, State Senator Oliver M. Marvin of Newcastle and Lieut. W. L. Hill, U.S.N. Previous to entering the hall Mr. Roosevelt passed through a long line of navy yard employees, who gave him a rousing reception.

Prior to speaking, Mr. Roosevelt was presented by Pres. Fred N. Staten of the Metal Traders Council with a gold watch in recognition of his efforts for the employees of the yard.

Roosevelt in speaking for the League of Nations stated that it was merely an extension of the Monroe Doctrine into international politics. He declared that the differences of opinions between the democratic party and the present republican leaders represented progress versus reaction.

His speech would mean a "stand pat" policy, which was so unbearable in 1912, he maintained.

The other speakers included Judge George S. Marx of Ohio, Raymond B. Stevens, candidate for senator; Rosecrans W. Pillsbury of Londonderry, aspirant for congress, and Major Charles E. Tilton of Tilton, nominee for governor.
